

1.36 Create procedures to ensure equitable representation of African-American learners in recognition ceremonies (e.g. including AP, IB, and Industry Certification students)

Narrative

The only current recognition ceremony for May is Student of the Month for “Distance Learning.” Below is the percentage of students receiving this recognition in March and April/May

Data

Action Plan

Each month, teachers submit their name for the Student of the Month, with a reminder to consider equity within their classes. Students of the Month typically have a school ceremony where parents come to school to see their child recognized. For the March and “Distance Learning” Student of the Month, students received a yard sign to display for a few weeks. The data did show an inequity in students chosen during “distance learning”, specifically for Hispanic students.
