

VBHS African American Parent Meetings

Parent Meetings have continued at VBHS despite being severely impacted by the Coronavirus Pandemic. At the beginning of April, guidance counselors were asked to identify and compose letters to all students that were in danger of failing courses and not graduating. Those letters were mailed out on 4/15/20. Vero Beach High School Principal also shared awards ceremonies virtually via social media platforms honoring some of Vero Beach High School's finest students. Administrative staff have continued to use email, phone, jabber, MS Teams, Focus and Canvas to reach out to students and families to provide support. Administrators have been contacting all non-responsive students and providing instructional materials (laptops and network access) on an as needed basis. Administration has also delegated parent contact and meetings to department chairs, guidance counselors, graduation coaches, resource specialist, behavior professionals, and teachers.
