The current needs and supports for equitable participation in extracurricular activities are identified through student survey and sign up for extracurricular activities. All activities are available to all students with transportation provided for students in need. In addition, students unable to play participation fees are provided with internal scholarships. Students with lack of financial means are accommodated in order to support their inclusion in all extracurricular activities.

Results of Action
Taken: Students of all backgrounds, regardless of means, or lack thereof, do take part in extracurricular activities.

Reflection: In reflecting on our support of all students' ability to participate in extracurricular programs, we find that our relationships with students and families is strengthened due to Oslo's willingness to make a way for ALL students to participate. Student self-efficacy is promoted through opportunities to collaborate with peers in extracurricular activities aligned to their personal interests.
