PeerForward Mobilizes Students to Create a College-Going Culture

The PeerForward method guides more students to college by tapping a resource found in every single high school in the nation: influential students. It is informed and validated by research on the key actions essential for postsecondary degree attainment. PeerForward trains, deploys, and coaches a team of Peer Leaders who are charged with boosting college preparation and enrollment across their entire school. They mobilize friends and classmates to realize their true college and career potential.
